

The beauty of the difference

Why men and women are different and the same

Martine F. Delfos, PhD

Table of contents

(Abridged)

|  |     |
|--|-----|
| Preface  | 13  |
| 1 Introduction: open Sesame!                               | 17  |
| 2 The origins of differences between the sexes             | 51  |
| 3 Where behavior comes from, and the form it takes         | 81  |
| 4 Differences between men and women                        |     |
| I – The foundation: care versus competition                | 99  |
| II – The testosterone hypothesis: on diseases and the self | 139 |
| III – The consequences: from manipulation to egocentrism   | 171 |
| 5 The anxiety model  | 223 |
| 6 Psychosomatic model                                      | 261 |
| 7 Raising children in equivalence                          | 283 |
| 8 Epilogue   | 317 |
| Appendix   | 323 |
| References   | 330 |
| List of outlines and schemas                               | 356 |
| List of illustrations                                      | 357 |
| Author index   | 359 |
| Subject index  | 363 |
| About the author   | 366 |

Table of contents

(Comprehensive)

|   |           |
|---|-----------|
| Preface  | 13 |
| 1 Introduction: open Sesame!                   | 17 |
| The urge to understand                                | 20        |
| Interpreting behavior                                 | 22        |
| Taking differences into account                       | 24        |
| A society geared to equality instead of equivalence   | 26        |
| The pressure for equal achievement                    | 27        |
| Understanding one another                             | 31        |
| Emancipation  | 32        |
| The imprisoned liberated woman                        | 39        |
| How this book is structured                           | 41        |
| The aim of the book                                   | 43        |
| Open sesame!  | 46        |
| Focal points  | 47        |
| 2 The origins of differences between the sexes | 51 |
| The significance of two sexes                         | 52        |
| The age of the partner                                | 54        |
| Security about the propagation of genes               | 56        |
| In search of the best genes                           | 58        |
| Procreation strategies of men                         | 60        |
| Infanticide   | 61        |
| The wish to have children                             | 62        |
| Procreation versus the sense of security              | 63        |
| Human selection                                       | 67        |
| From procreation to orgasm                            | 68        |
| Man or woman, XY or XX                                | 71        |
| Correction and strengthening                          | 76        |
| Nature and behavior                                   | 77        |
| Focal points  | 77        |

|          |   |            |
|----------|---|------------|
| 3 | Where behavior comes from, and the form it takes           | 81  |
|          | Interchangeability of roles                                       | 81         |
|          | Genes and how they will be expressed                              | 83         |
|          | Behavior genotype and behavior phenotype                          | 85         |
|          | Differences in nature and behavior                                | 86         |
|          | Behavior linked to the source                                     | 89         |
|          | Overlap in behavior of men and women                              | 91         |
|          | Preferential behavior   | 93         |
|          | The gender as a fundamental condition                             | 95         |
|          | Focal points  | 95         |
| 4 | Differences between men and women                          |            |
|          | I – The foundation: care versus competition                | 99  |
|          | Sex as a foundation from day one                                  | 100        |
|          | Guys do not iron  | 104        |
|          | Territorial drive   | 112        |
|          | Muscle strength   | 115        |
|          | The vulnerable man  | 122        |
|          | The refreshment syndrome  | 124        |
|          | ‘Fight or flight’ versus ‘nice or victim’                         | 126        |
|          | Fundamental differences   | 129        |
|          | Spatial and relational intuition                                  | 131        |
|          | Focal points  | 134        |
|          | II – The testosterone hypothesis: on diseases and the self | 139 |
|          | The development of the fetus in the womb                          | 140        |
|          | The biological self   | 146        |
|          | Immune reactions  | 149        |
|          | Illness perception and life expectancy                            | 153        |
|          | Biological self > psychological self > neural self                | 157        |
|          | The Socioschema   | 160        |
|          | Me-otherdifferentiation   | 163        |
|          | Focal points  | 167        |
|          | III – The consequences: from manipulation to egocentrism   | 171 |
|          | Continuity and relations  | 171        |
|          | To place oneself in another person’s place, empathy               | 176        |
|          | Sensitivity to language   | 179        |
|          | The self as the axis of consciousness                             | 184        |
|          | Changing perspectives   | 189        |
|          | The empathy spectrum  | 192        |

|  |            |
|--|------------|
| The memory                                     | 195        |
| Intelligence: from mathematics to language     | 198        |
| Moral development                              | 207        |
| Resistance to change and concentration         | 210        |
| Self-reflection                                | 213        |
| Focal points                                   | 218        |
| 5 The anxiety model                     | 223 |
| Anxiety as a basic drive                       | 223        |
| The detection of danger                        | 225        |
| The reaction to danger                         | 227        |
| The power of action of testosterone            | 234        |
| Poor balance                                   | 240        |
| Testosterone and aggression                    | 240        |
| The 'missing link'                             | 243        |
| A lack of testosterone and depression          | 245        |
| Female aggression                              | 246        |
| Anxiety model: aggression versus depression    | 247        |
| Differences between boys and girls             | 251        |
| Fight-or-flight versus nice-or-victim          | 251        |
| The HPA-axis and chronic stress                | 255        |
| Focal points                                   | 257        |
| 6 Psychosomatic model                   | 261 |
| Differences in diseases between men and women  | 261        |
| Body and soul are inseparable                  | 263        |
| The necessity of a balance                     | 266        |
| The psychosomatics model                       | 267        |
| Talking versus moving                          | 275        |
| Focal points                                   | 278        |
| 7 Raising children in equivalence       | 283 |
| Modern education                               | 283        |
| Maelstrom of diagnoses                         | 284        |
| Psychological fulfillment of needs             | 287        |
| New form of abuse                              | 289        |
| Healthy limits and healthy rewards             | 290        |
| The right to differ                            | 298        |
| Playing 'father-and-mother' and 'military'     | 301        |
| A mother for the boy, a father for the girl    | 306        |
| Gender differences and the virtual environment | 307        |

|   |            |
|---|------------|
| Raising children, acknowledging the differences   | 308        |
| Educating from strength   | 310        |
| Specific aspects for the pedagogical help   | 311        |
| Sex-specific versus sexist  | 312        |
| Focal points  | 313        |
| 8 Epilogue   | 317 |
| The beauty of the difference  | 317        |
| Rigidity and manipulation   | 319        |
| Appendix   | 323 |
| I: Glossary of new concepts and theories developed by Martine Delfos used in this book.                                     | 323        |
| II: Solution of the problem presented in Chapter 7.   | 324        |
| III: Action or anxiety. Interview with Martine Delfos on the beautiful sex differences in a Dutch newspaper ( NRC ). | 325        |
| References   | 330 |
| List of outlines and schemas   | 356 |
| List of illustrations  | 357 |
| Author index   | 359 |
| Subject index  | 363 |
| About the author   | 366 |